

Celebrating Skills - The first batch of Pacha Saale's Skill Hub Graduate

December 5, 2017

The first batch of Pacha Saale' Skill hub have now successfully finished their three months training in skills such as tailoring, computer and electrical and motor winding . The young adults, most of who are women, have acquired skills which can enable them to earn a living independently. The students expressed a great confidence after completing the training and can now start working in their own villages and support their families. The district Collector, who awarded the students with their certificates, encouraged them to put their skills to practice and grow further. The skill hub intends to take in more youth from the surrounding villages so that it can mitigate migration of rural youth to cities and instead earn a living within their villages.
